From April to September 1916 there were battles here that during the whole World War I took about 1000 Russian Army soldier lives, 145 of which were Latvian Riflemen. At that time, it was a 3 km long and 1.5 km wide peninsula on the left bank of the river Daugava, officially called the Ikšķīle bridgehead, and its territory together with the small Lives Manor was a part of the Kurzeme Province. Soldiers called this bridgehead Nāves sala (Isle of Death), as there were fatalities and wounded every day. In 1916 the German Army used poisonous mustard gas here that was the first attack using poisonous gas in the Riga front. Nowadays Nāves sala no longer is a peninsula; it is an island, and can be reached only by a boat, raft or another water transport. There is a monument of the island for protectors of Nāves sala. 51 Daugmale Castle mound

Daugmale Castle mound historically was a trade and craft centre on the banks of Daugava. Historians think that at the foot of the hillfort by estuary of river Varžupīte into Daugava there was the Zemgale Port that is mentioned in historic documents. Today there is an informative board, benches and stairs for more convenient access of the hill.

Baldone Story Trails

Welcome to Baldone city! Take one of the four Story Trails and discover the Baldone nature, culture and historical treasures with audio guides in Latvian, Russian, English and Lithuanian! If you follow small red footprints, you will take the big circle that is about 20 km long and encompasses 16 tourism objects that are included in the audio guide. But following small blue footprints, you will take the small circle that is about 8 km long and encompasses 9 tourism objects. You can do the small circle also by bike! For orientation you can use labelling and a map that can be downloaded with a QR code.

Route of industrial objects

Route of industrial objects is a possibility to learn interesting stories about 16 important industrial objects in the Ķekava District. The stories will take visitors to the past, as well as show the active Ķekava District these days. The audio guide will tell you about the beginning of Baloži peat extraction, history of the poultry farm, construction of the Riga Hydroelectric Power Station and many other objects. Audio guides are available in Latvian and English. You can start the route at any point and form the route by your choice, as well as take the rides or walks repeatedly; you do not have to listen to all stories at once. The objects are not labelled on site, and the audio guide operates in the platform izi.TRAVEL.

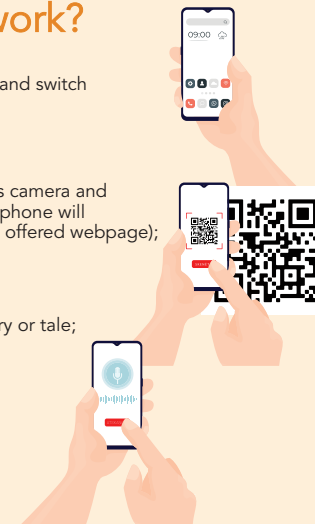

Digital trail of stories and tales

Ķekava Local History Museum has developed a trail of stories and tales that includes 9 objects in Ķekava. You can use your smartphone to scan the QR code at each object and listen to a story or a tale. Length of the walk is 4 km or 1 – 1.5 h depending on the pace.

How does it work?

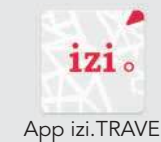

- 1 Take your smartphone and switch on mobile internet;
- 2 Open the smartphone's camera and scan the QR code (the phone will automatically open the offered webpage);
- 3 Listen the attached story or tale;
- 4 Go to the next object.

Activity available free for an unlimited time.

Nāves sala (Death Island). Story of Līna Čanka.

Līna Čanka is most definitely one of the best examples of bravery and selflessness during the World War I and nowadays is known due to a small wine, how she got it out by listening to five various audio guide stories about the operations of the Latvian Riflemen in Nāves sala in Latvian and English. The audio guide is available in the platform izi.TRAVEL, as well as there are plates with QR codes for each story. We would like to remind you that the only way to reach the Nāves sala is by any of the water transport means and this service is not offered on the spot!
